The 21st century has brought a drastic revolution in science, which has completely transformed the world. Today sciences are exploring areas that defy imagination. Keeping in line with the importance of the sciences in today's world, LCWU has been fulfilling the demand of the female students in the area, as this was the only institution offering science subjects at undergraduate level. This is evident from the fact that majority of the female doctors, serving and retired, have at some stage (F.Sc. or B.Sc.) studied at Lahore College for Women. At the moment Botany, Chemistry, Physics, Zoology, Bio-Technology, Mathematics, Economics, Statistics, Electronics, Environmental Science, Computer Science and Pharmacy are taught at Graduate, Postgraduate and Doctoral levels.

LCWU is cognizant of the significance of social sciences and liberal arts since they contribute to the aesthetic sense of human beings and are essential for the society. The Department of English, being more than 70 years old, is the oldest post-graduate department of the University. Besides English, Urdu, Punjabi, Islamic Studies, International Relations, Political Science, Fine Arts, Pakistan Studies, Mass Communication and Gender and Development Studies are being offered at graduate and postgraduate level. Overview

It is a matter of pride and pleasure for me to introduce the Department of Biotechnology, Lahore College for Women University. The Department was established in 2010 with an objective of imparting quality education in the multidisciplinary field of Biotechnology at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels. Our Department is located in close proximity to other Departments in the natural sciences - Chemistry, physics, statistics and mathematics - the institute of Pharmacy and state-of-the-art shared facilities, making LCWU a rich environment for our students and faculty. Department of Biotechnology has well-equipped research and computer labs. A Library in the department laden with latest books in order for our students to acquaint themselves with the latest knowledge and research. Scanning Electron Microscope, XRD, FTIR, GCMS, HPLC and many other resources, are close by. Our outstanding facilities and beautiful department provide an exceptional environment for teaching and research.

Biotechnology, a major driving force towards a sustainable society. Sustainable production of biofuels, biochemicals, pharmaceuticals, clothes, food and other products is a necessary alternative to current production methods and requires massive education of biotechnologist. Biotechnologist work in all phases of society's development towards bio-based economy. Biochemical and molecular biological tasks include mining of genes, modifying processes, or natural compounds from natural resources as well as design and construction of recombinant cell-factories. Fermentation tasks include design, optimization, and running of fermentation processes. Other tasks include purification and quality control of proteins and biochemical - and most importantly, the invention of new methods to use biotechnology for the benefit of society. All of these tasks require specialized biotechnologist that are educated in a combination of scientific research and industrial application.

Biotech industry is an expanding billion-dollar industry offering a promising future for Biotechnologist whether employed in a large biotech company or starting up small companies as bio-entrepreneurs. Through the program, you will build upon your fundamental knowledge of biochemistry, protein and enzymology, microbiology, molecular biology, genetics, proteomics and fermentation process technology. You will learn to apply this knowledge on biotechnological problems, ranging from basic research issues to the development of new cell factories and the study of their performance in bioreactors. You will acquire the relevant competencies for collecting and analyzing wide-ranging types of data using statistics, bioinformatics, and mathematical models.

Some of our research groups focus on Health and Agricultural Biotechnology, while others explore open questions with Microbial Biotechnology, Industrial Biotechnology, Molecular Biology, Bioinformatics, Pharmaceutical Biotechnology, Bio-Nanotechnology, Genomics and Proteomics, Molecular Diagnostics and Virology. We are dedicated to developing the next generation of scholars in biotechnology and building an inclusive learning environment.

Diploma in Bioinformatics

A 1-year diploma program consisting of 2 semesters for studying the combination of biology and computer science managed by the acquisition, analysis, storage and dissemination of biological data. Large commercial enterprises like pharmaceutical companies employ bioinformaticians to perform and maintain the large scale and complicated bioinformatic needs of their industries. With an ever-increasing need for constant input from bioinformatic experts, most biomedical laboratories may soon have their own in-house bioinformatician. The individual researcher, beyond a basic acquisition and analysis of simple data, would certainly need external bioinformatic advice for any complex analysis.

Bio-informatics is used in biomedicine dealing with the analysis, storage, manipulation and interpretation of macromolecules such as DNA, RNA and proteins. Conversely, wet lab analysis of computationally predicted functionally relevant motifs/segments of macromolecules further enhances our understanding of complex mechanisms occurring in cells. It will also provide an opportunity for learning modern techniques and help students to exploit new ways for solving complex biological problems. It will also train human resources particularly women in this advanced and challenging field, and develop skills which are definitely job oriented.

Learning Objectives

The aim of this program is to achieve excellence through development of productive skills for Biotechnology and Bioinformatic professionals/researchers/research scholars to handle multifarious challenging needs.

- Train human resources particularly women in this advanced and challenging field
- Develop skills which are definitely job oriented
- Produce skills which can help in solving the problems.
- Establish a forum for exchange of information on national and international level.

The history of Persian Department is the history of Lahore College for Women University, Lahore. The Persian Department has a glorious past comprising of nine decades. In 1922 when Lahore College for Women was founded there were only few departments like Chemistry, English, Urdu, Philosophy, Physics, Economics, Political Science and one of these was the Persian Department.

The key factor behind the establishment of the Persian department in Lahore College for Women was that the Persian language was the only official language of the subcontinent starting from Mahmud Ghaznavi's period to the Sikh Era of the Punjab. In addition, seventy five percent of Urdu language is derived from Persian language. A great treasure of religious books is in Persian and many other have been translated in Persian language. These books are an authority in religious teachings too. Many rare manuscripts are also available in Persian literature.

The Department of Persian is one of the oldest departments of Lahore College for Women University, Lahore. The importance of this department has justified its existence in university and contributed to its growth. The department has produced prominent scholars like Dr. Aarfa Sayeda, Ms. Kishwer Naheed and Ms. Shabnam Shakeel who have enhanced its stature and status.

The implementation of the above referred MOU started in November, 2008, with the construction of In-charge office of Iranology Centre. The construction work was fully funded by the Iran Culture Center which included the construction of office along with a library. The aforementioned office was inaugurated on 11th November, 2008. Furthermore, the Iran Culture also strengthened the office by providing furniture and fixture. A delegation from Lahore College for Women University headed by the Vice Chancellor Dr. Bushra Mateen along with other three members including Ms. Faleeha Kazmi (Incharge Department of Persian) went on a one week visit to Iran i.e. from November 12 to 19, 2008). Establishment of Ferdowsi Chair at LCWU

Abu'l-Qasim Ferdowsi Toosi (c.940-1020) has been a very famous Persian poet and the author of Shahnameh ("The Book of Kings"). He is celebrated as the most influential figure in Persian literature and the National poet of Iran. Ferdowsi's Shahnameh is the most popular and influential national epic in Iran and other Persian-speaking nations. Considering the importance of Ferdowsi's work, the Persian Department at Lahore College for Women University proposed establishing of Ferdowsi Chair in LCWU, to the Saadi Organization, government of Iran which was accepted very kindly. This Organization chose Prof. Dr. S. Faleeha Zahra Kazmi for the mentioned Chair because of her expertise in Persian epic literature. For this purpose, they also provided funds to the Persian Department which is a very kind and exceptional gesture under this chair. They

Two young faculty members of the Department, Ms. Amber Zulfiqar and Ms. Maria Umer were invited to go to Iran to attend a fully funded teacher training course for one month through the Ferdowsi Chair. Under the leadership of the Vice Chancellor, LCWU, prof. Dr. Uzma Quraishi, the Ferdowsi Chair has arranged the international conferences and workshops and visits of Persian students to attend the language courses and signed the MOUs:

Overview Disaster Management

Disaster management is an emerging discipline and Pakistan lacks qualified Disaster managers and professionals for future needs. Besides that, the International Conference held in Sendai, Japan has formulated a new framework for Disaster Risk Reduction (SFDRR) which has superseded the Hyogo Framework for Action (HFA). The close inter-linkages between sound Disaster Risk Reduction, environmental management and climate change impacts and land use planning require a more systematic and comprehensive approach to disaster management. Considering the importance of Disaster Management for all professions (Doctors, Engineers, Planners, Military officers, Social Scientists, Logisticians, Risk Managers, Decision Makers, etc.) proper education and training is required.

There is a severe shortage of qualified and trained professionals in this field besides that gender mainstreaming also very important aspect of the discipline therefore it was highly recommended by the international community where the role of women must be of prime importance. The case of establishing BS DM Program was presented by the chairperson of CRP department in 71st meeting of the academic council held on 6th –August- 2019 vide letter Reg/LCWU/1992/Dated 23-August-2019. The program was launched from fall 2021, after required communication with Higher Education Commission vide letter no. HEC/ACAD/LCWU/BS: DM/2020 July 17, 2020.

Disaster Management is an inter-disciplinary and multi-disciplinary academic field devoted to various aspects of disaster management across societies and cultures. This program aspires to provide disaster management professionals and specialists for public and private sector Organizations, Institutions and Authorities who can plan, manage, and evaluate interventions in the field of disaster management.
